Suggested Route of Travel: This excursion follows Vt. Rt. 9, connecting Vermont's two major southern cities Brattleboro and Bennington and can be traveled in either direction. You begin by exploring the historic downtown of one city and finish by exploring the downtown area of the other. In between, Rt. 9 takes you up and over the spine of the Green Mountains, with amazing scenery and visits to the historic towns of Marlboro and Wilmington. In addition to its lovely downtown area, Bennington is home to several interesting historic sites. This excursion requires less driving, allowing more time to visit shops and historic sites.
